PGCE Vacancies 2008 Entry

We still have some vacancies for 2008 entry for the following PGCE Courses:

- Secondary Education Maths (1 and 2 year courses)
- Secondary Education Science (Biology, Physics or Chemistry) (Crewe Campus Only)
- Secondary Education Modern Foreign Languages (French, German or Spanish)
- Secondary Education Geography (Crewe Campus Only)

On 1st August 2007, the MMU Institute of Education became a full Faculty of the university in recognition of its standing as one of the UK's leading, internationally recognised, educational centres.

Recent Events

Assessment for Learning and Engaging with Student Voices: The Annual Learning and Teaching Conference for the Institute of Education and the Faculty of Health, Psychology and Social Care, which took place on the 15th May 2008.

Recent Success

The Institute has expanded from its established initial teacher training focus and developed successful provision in Enterprise Education, Education Studies, Early Years and Childhood Studies, Urban Education and Community Studies, Education and Business Management Leadership, Educational Research (including research training) and international activity.

During 06-07 Ofsted inspected the Institute's primary and secondary teacher training provision and both gained a prestigious grade '1' for overall Management and Quality Assurance.

Leading centre for research

The Institute's Education and Social Research Institute (ESRI) consolidated its status as one of the leading UK centres for applied educational research and evaluation. Recent sponsors include the Education and Social Research Council, the Nuffield Foundation, the Gatsby Foundation, the Wellcome Trust, the Esmée Fairbairn Foundation, the DfES, the European Union, the General Teaching Council for England, Barclays, Microsoft and Siemens/Lego. Welcome to the home pages of the Professional Development Programme (PDP) at the Institute of Education. The PDP offers all professionals working within the education community high quality courses in professional development that enhance their skills, extend their knowledge and challenge their thinking. Professionals that study with us come from all areas of teaching and instruction, including educational settings, police and armed forces training programmes, health and welfare settings and the voluntary sector.

Explore the range of courses available to you, both at Didsbury and Crewe, and look at the further details provided on the website.

You are welcome to contact

CHANGING YOUR PASSWORD

Self service portal: <http://www.mmu.ac.uk/self/>

Manchester Metropolitan University

Self Service Portal
Information System Support | MMU Home Page

Click For SelfService Login
Quick Start Guide (pdf)

Welcome to the Self Service System

Introduction

Self service will allow you to access your home and shared area files, change your password and configure a question and answer set to reset your password when it has been lost or forgotten.

Please note that when you register to use the support forums, you must use your student ID number. This is owing to abuse of the boards by guest users.

Password Policy Notice (4th May 2007)

The University's password Policy requires that passwords must be at least 5 characters long and must include at least one upper-case letter, one lower-case letter and one number. You will need to change your password at least every 365 days.

Examples of passwords that can not be used include - (Example), Password, Monkey, 56789.

You must never disclose your password to anyone else under any circumstances. The full policy is available at <http://www.mmu.ac.uk/policy> and follow the "Password Policy" link.

Special Notice for Windows Vista Users

Please note if you are accessing Self Service from Internet Explorer 7 and Windows Vista (in that combination, NOT Windows XP or OS), you need to disable ILS13, otherwise you won't be able to log in. To do this, open ICS on Vista, select the "tools" menu, select "Internet Options", click the "Advanced" tab on the far right, scroll down the options and just up from the bottom Uncheck the option "Use ILS 1.0".

Click here

It is vital that students studying with the Professional Development Programme are able to access the University Websites. These websites hold the contact information and study material which plays a huge part in following their course successfully. In order to access the websites properly, students must have a fully operational password, and this section is placed first in the booklet because of its importance. Please read it thoroughly and act on the password change requirement outlined below!

The password policy of the University is outlined on the self-service portal page, and is reproduced here. Follow the steps below to change your password immediately.

“The University Password Policy requires that passwords must be at least five characters long and must include at least one upper case letter, one lower case letter and one number. You will need to change your password at least every 365 days.”

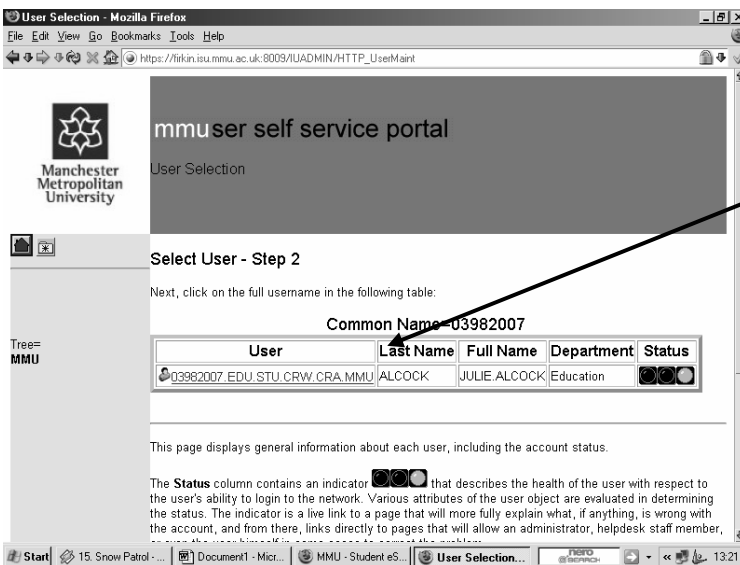

The initial passwords issued to all students when they register (which then should be changed immediately) are in date of birth format as follows: ddMonyy i.e. for someone born on 1st April 1990 their initial password would be 01Apr90 or if they were born on 13th October 1952 their initial password would be 13Oct52. Temporary passwords only last a few days so it is vital to change them immediately.

On the Admin page menu under “Your Account” select “CHANGE YOUR PASSWORD”
Step 2

Enter your user ID (registration or library number)

Ensure that the name shown is correct, and if it is click on it (the name) for the next screen.

Enter your current password, your new password, and then re-enter your new password.

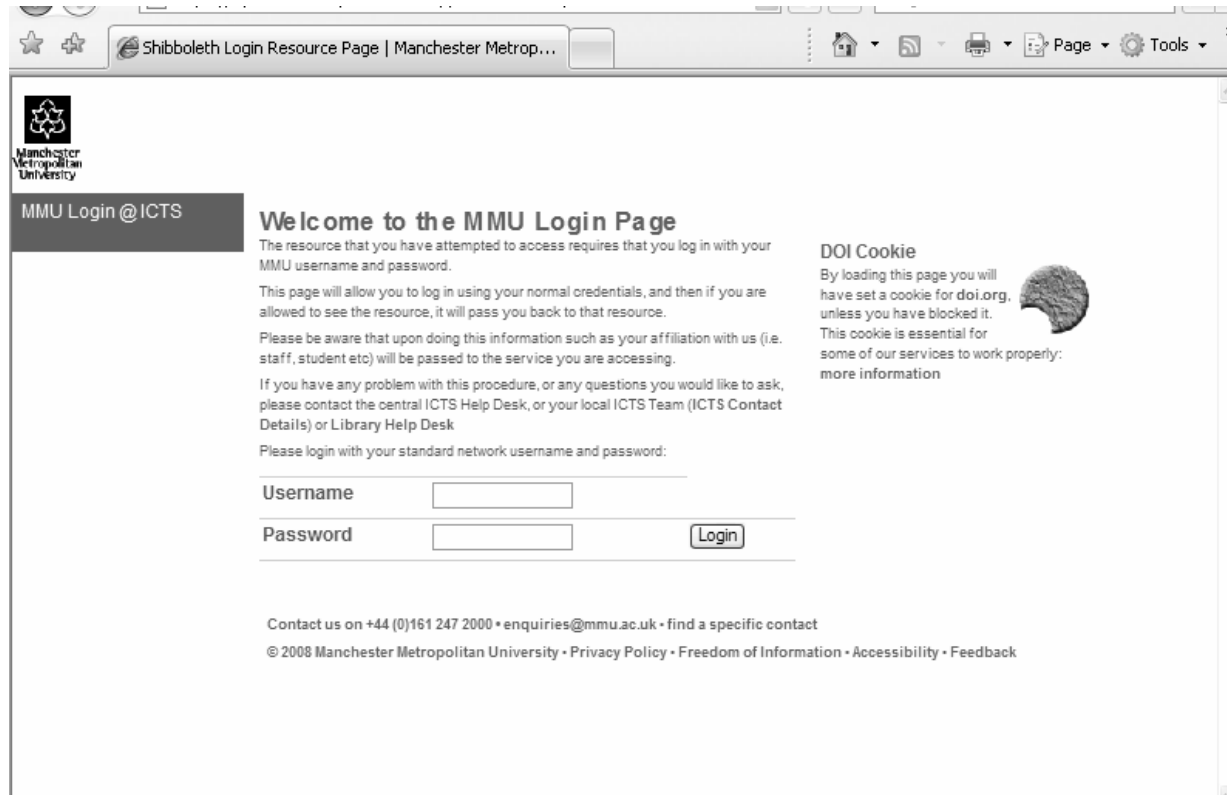

Press: SUBMIT

You should get a “success” message which means your password has been changed.

If you get any other message you need to try again.

“Logging in” to use library resources

Logging in to use library resources

When using library resources such as electronic journals or books, you will be asked to “log in”; this process ensures that only accredited university students have access to the resources. You must use your username (the number on your registration/library card and your password (see the earlier section – changing your password). It is important when logging in that your web browser (Internet Explorer etc) allows you to import cookies. If you are unsure, go to the “TOOLS” menu, choose “INTERNET OPTION” and check the “PRIVACY” tab – this allows you to accept cookies.

 You may be asked to log in (see earlier sections of this booklet)

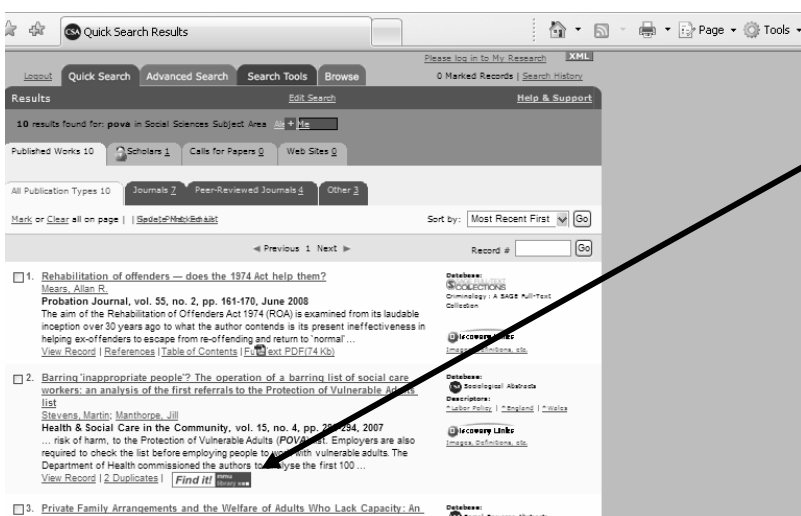

The simple search is an easy way of exploring a range of material in different areas.

By entering a search term

and limiting the search to a specific subject area

or date, you can find a range of literature across a wide range of journals and other sources

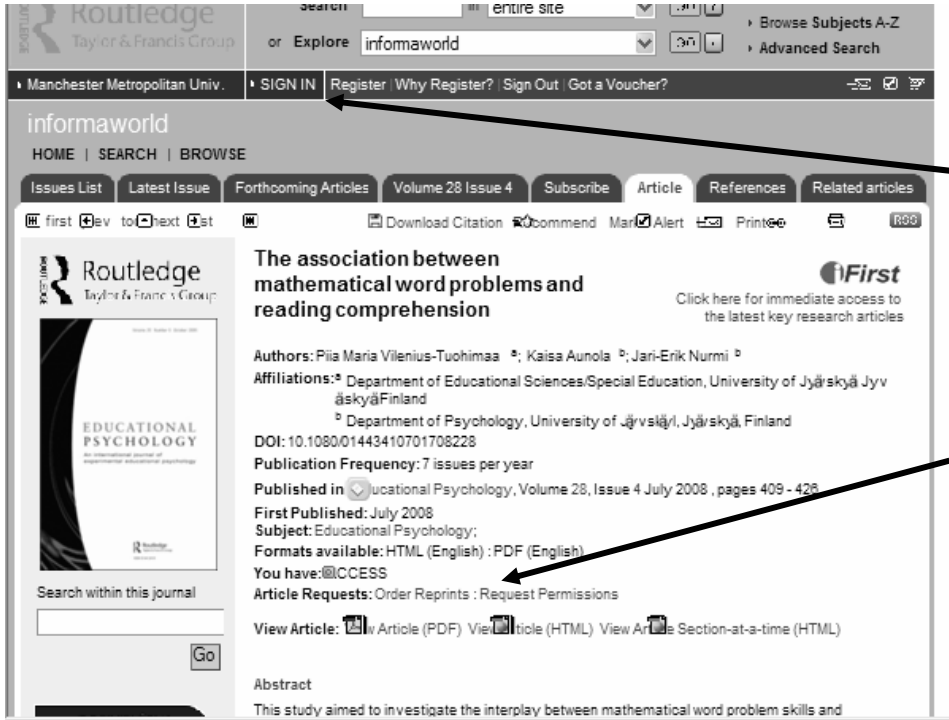

By pressing the “FIND IT!” button next to the reference, you will be automatically taken to the library link for this article.

If there is no electronic version of the article available, it is worth checking to see if the library has a hard copy of the article available.

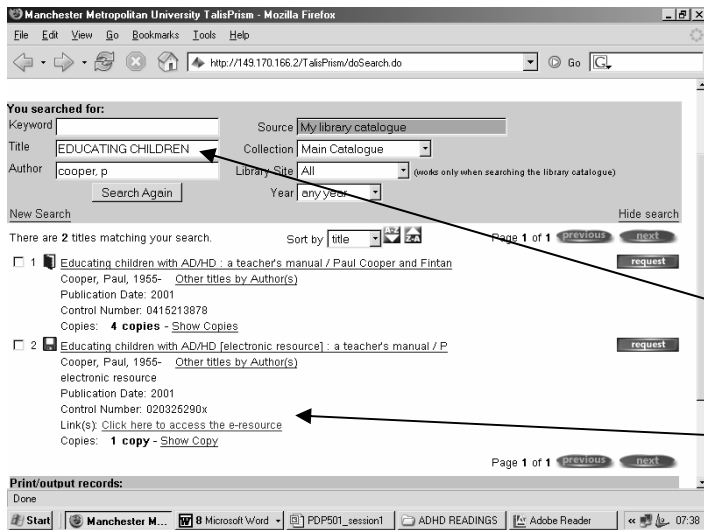

By pressing the “GO” link after the reference, you will be taken directly to the journal website.

You may have to log in at the journal home page – if so look for the ATHENS log in option and follow the directions.

If this isn't required you will see the downloading options, and you may choose the option you prefer.

Using an electronic book

Locate the electronic book you want to use in the University Library Catalogue

Choose the “access the e-resource” option.

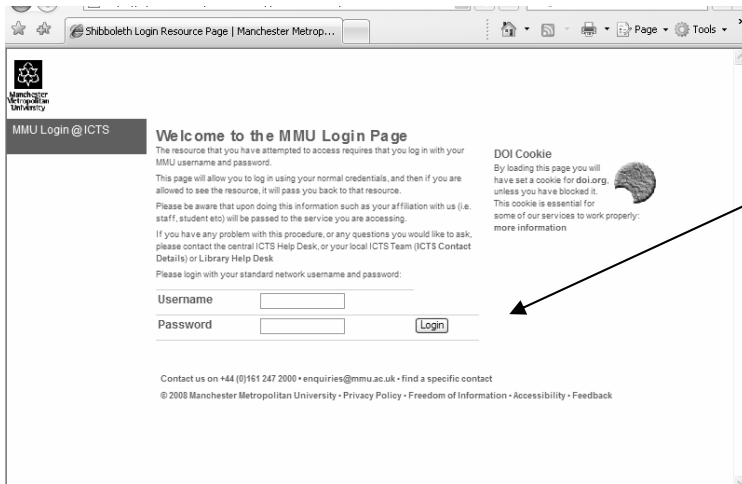

Click the Log In button: Note that the layout, wording and instructions may vary from book to book. You may have to search for the appropriate log in instructions.

Choose the “Athens users log in here button” (the location of this button may vary from book to book)

If there is an intermediate stage, always choose the ALTERNATIVE ATHENS LOGIN if offered.

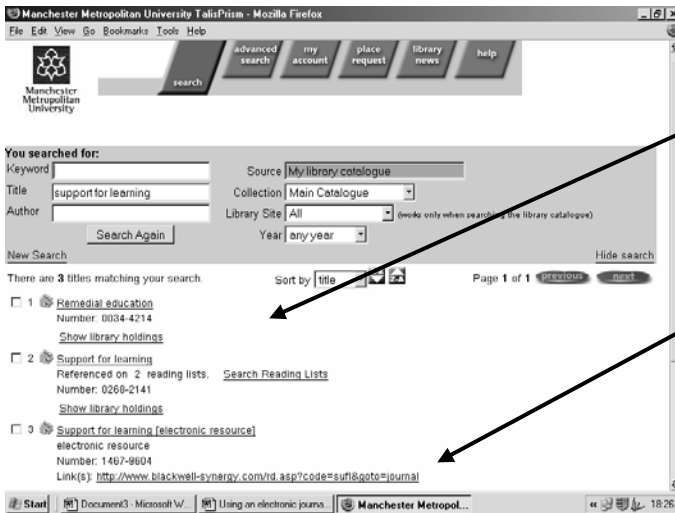

Enter your University username and password (username is the string of numbers on your library/registration card) [password for the first time of use is your date of birth entered in the format ddMonyy i.e. 1st April 1990 would be 01Apr90 – please see section on changing your password if still using dob]

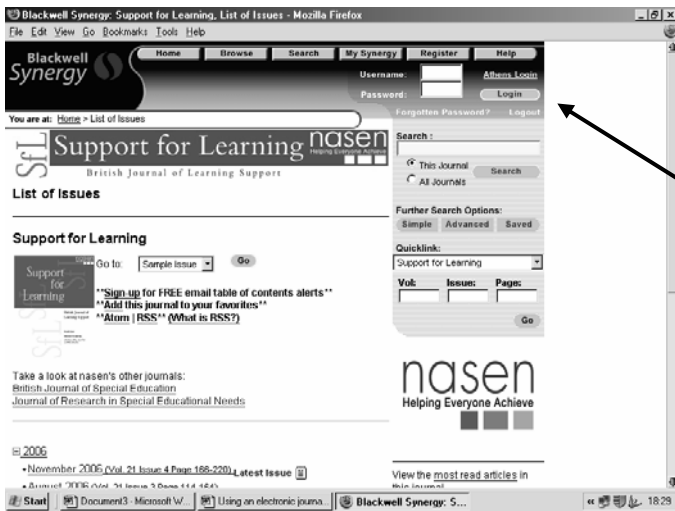

You will be taken back to the electronic book which you can then start reading ... you may only have to go through this process once each library session when you use electronic books or journals; but there isn't necessarily a clear rule!

Using an electronic journal

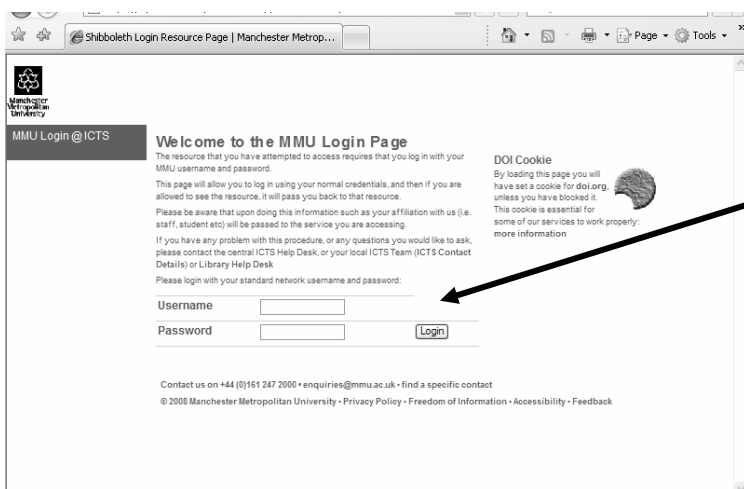

Locate the electronic Journal you want to use in the University Library Catalogue

Choose the “access the e-resource” option.

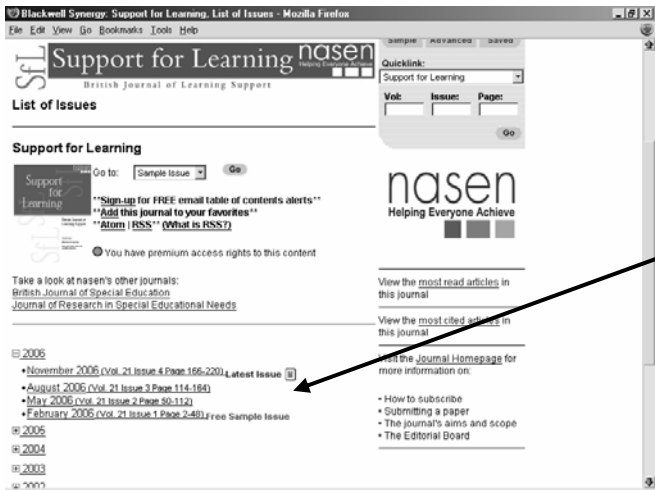

Choose the “Athens users log in here button” (the location of this button may vary from journal to journal)

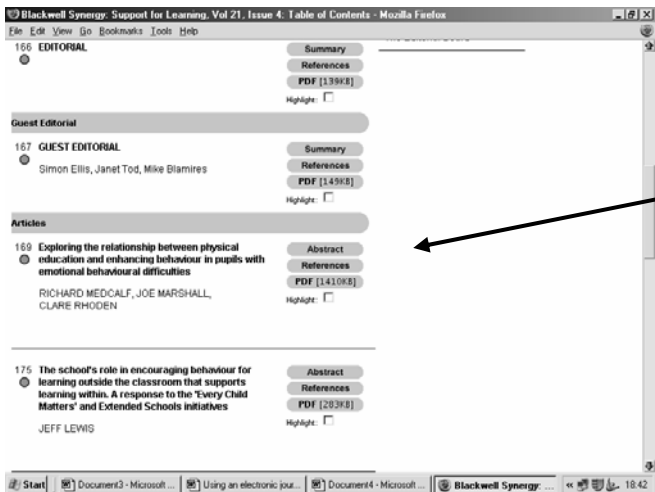

If there is an intermediate stage, always choose the ALTERNATIVE ATHENS LOGIN if offered.

Enter your University username and password (username is the string of numbers on your library/registration card) [password for the first time of use is your date of birth entered in the format ddMonyy i.e. 1st April 1990 would be 01Apr90 – please see section on changing your password if still using dob]

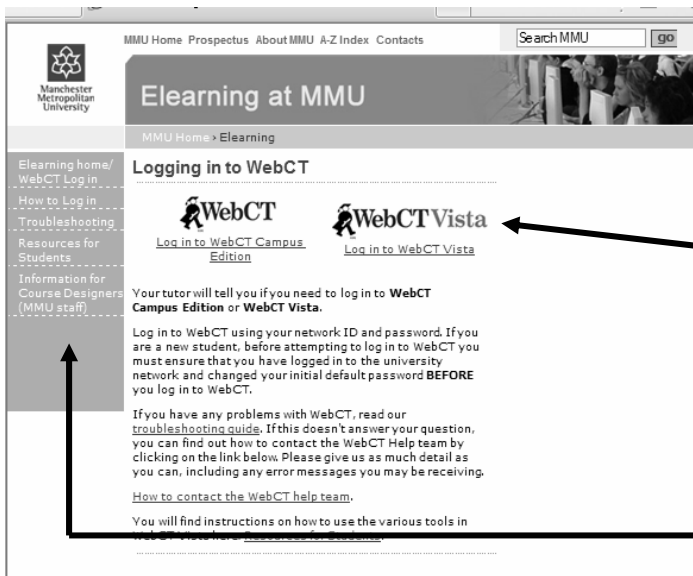

Choose the edition of the journal which you want to read

To read and/or print the article, select the PDF option. This will open the article in a separate programme.

Using WebCTVista
